THE MONK'S KETTLE

Bottled Beers

Lagers

Lagers use bottom-fermenting yeasts that fall to the bottom of the vessel during fermentation. This fermentation is done at cooler temperatures, around 41 - 48 degrees F, with maturation at or close to 32 degrees F. The result is a clean, well-rounded beer from the yeasts working more slowly and thoroughly through the malt sugars.

Pilsner

Light to straw in color, and clear. These lagers have a present hoppiness, while maintaining a good malt character, and are incredibly smooth and crisp

Eisbock

Water freezes before alcohol, so one way to reach a higher alcohol content in a beer is to freeze and remove a portion of the water. That is done in these bocks, with the result being a full bodied, malty lager with a higher alcohol content.

Ales

Ales are brewed using top-fermenting yeasts, meaning the yeast rises to the top of the brewing vessel during fermentation. More often than not, this is also done at higher temperatures than Lagers, (60-75 degrees F), and needs less time for maturation. Ales are characterized by their subtlety, complexity, and fruity/floral flavors and aromas.

Small Beer

Small beer is a style that exemplifies the modern brewer's tradition of reinterpreting forgotten or disused brewing techniques. Historically an ale brewed for peasants, laborers and children, the modern small beer is made by re-using the mash intended for a strong ale (usually a barley- or wheat-wine style ale) to produce a lighter bodied, biscuit-dry ale with relatively low alcohol; possibly the perfect lunchtime burger beer.

| | | | |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|----------|--------|
| Anchor Small Beer (22 oz)..... | Anchor, San Francisco, CA..... | 3.3..... | $9.25 |
|--------------------------------|--------------------------------|----------|--------|

Hefe Weizen

An unfiltered, German style of beer, with a high ratio of wheat that produces a cloudy appearance, and a palate and aroma that usually includes bananas and cloves.

| | | | |
|--------------------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Paulaner Hefeweizen (16.9oz)..... | Paulaner Brauerei, Munich, GER..... | 5.5..... | $11.25 |

| Telegraph Golden Wheat (750 ml)..... | Telegraph Brewing Co, Santa Barbara, CA..... | | $16.75 |

Dunkel Weizen

Much like the paler Hefe-weizen, but brewed with darker, roasted malts, Dunkels have a fuller mouthfeel with plenty of flavor and complexity.

| | | | |
|---------------------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Weihenstephaner Dunkel (16.9 oz)..... | Brauerei Weihenstephan, Freising, GER..... | 5.0..... | $11.25 |
|---------------------------------------|--|----------|---------|

Weizenbock

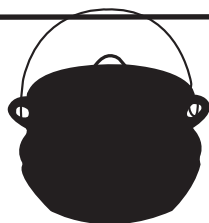

These are stronger versions of Dunkel Weizens, that feature a malty spiciness, complexity, and full flavor.

| | | | |
|----------------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Aventinus (16.9 oz)..... | Weissbierbrauerei G. Schneider & Sohn, Kelheim, GER..... | 8.2..... | $11.75 |
| Hopf Weisser Bock (16.9 oz)..... | Weissbierbrauerei Hopf, Miesbach, GER..... | 7.0..... | $12.25 |

Pale Ale

This style originated in 19th Century Burton, England, along the River Trent. Despite their name, Pale Ales are actually golden to amber in color, generally have a good malt-to-hop balance and a light, nutty flavor.

| | | | |
|----------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Monteith's Original..... | Monteith's Brewing, Greymouth, NZ..... | 4.0..... | $4.75 |

THE MONK'S KETTLE

IPA

Originally brewed for the British troops in India, this golden to amber ale is similar to the Pale, but with quite a bit more hops, and a lot more complexity.

| | | | |
|------------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Sweetgrass IPA..... | Grand Teton Brewing Co, Victor, ID | 6.5..... | $5.25 |
| Inversion IPA | Deschutes Brewery, Bend, OR..... | 6.8..... | $4.25 |

| Alesmith IPA (22 oz) | AleSmith Brewing Co, San Diego, CA..... | 7.5..... | $17.00 |

Double IPA

Double the strength: a lot more hops, as well as a higher alcohol and malt content.

| | | | |
|-----------------------------------|---|-----------|---------|
| Gordon (Can)..... | Oskar Blues Brewery, Lyons, CO | 8.7..... | $8.00 |
| Blue Dot DIPA (22 oz)..... | Hair of the Dog Brewery, Portland, OR..... | 7.0..... | $19.75 |

| Port 3rd Anniversary (22 oz)..... | Port Brewing Co, San Marcos, CA | 10.0..... | $17.75 |

Extra Special Bitter (ESB)

A more complex version of the original English Bitter (noted primarily for its hop content and dryness), this brew is even higher in hops, but with great balance from a pronounced maltiness.

| | | | |
|-------------------------|---|----------|---------|
| Bitch Creek ESB | Grand Teton Brewing Co, Victor, ID | 6.5..... | $5.00 |
| Anvil ESB (22 oz) | AleSmith Brewing Co., San Diego, CA | 5.5..... | $14.25 |

Amber Ale

Amber Ale is a very general characterization, but these ales are balanced, with a concentration on their maltiness and aroma.

| | | | |
|----------------------------|--|----------|--------|
| Stone Levitation Ale | Stone Brewing Co., Escondido, CA | 4.4..... | $5.25 |
|----------------------------|--|----------|--------|

Brown Ale

These ales are generally defined by their color and their pronounced malty/sweet characteristics. Some, though, may be a bit drier with a little nuttiness.

| | | | |
|------------------------------|--|----------|--------|
| Cucapá Obscura | Cucapa Brewing Co., Mexicali (Baja California), MEX..... | 4.5..... | $5.00 |
| Wolaver's Organic Brown..... | Otter Creek Brewery, Middlebury, VT | 5.7..... | $5.50 |

Altbier

This beer style is Germany's answer to the Brown Ales of Britain and Belgium. Bronze to copper in color, they have a well-balanced malt flavor, and a smooth drinkability due to their cold temperature maturation. You may note a hoppy bitterness in the finish.

| | | | |
|--------------------------|--------------------------------------|----------|---------|
| Sticke..... | Uerige, Düsseldorf, GER..... | 6.0..... | $14.75 |
| Sipplesticke Doppel..... | Uerige, Düsseldorf, GER..... | 8.5..... | $15.75 |
| Alaskan Amber..... | Alaskan Brewing Co., Juneau, AK..... | 4.0..... | $4.75 |

Scottish Ale

These full-bodied strong ales known as "Wee Heavy," generally feature caramelized malts, a roasted malt flavor, and a rich brown color.

| | | | |
|-----------------------------------|---|----------|---------|
| Old Chub (Can)..... | Oskar Blues Brewery, Lyons, CO | 8.0..... | $5.00 |
| Wee Heavy (500 ml)..... | Belhaven Brewery, Dunbar, SCOT | 6.5..... | $12.25 |
| Traquair House..... | Traquair House Brewery Lld, Peeblesshire, SCOT..... | 7.2..... | $13.25 |
| Meantime Scotch Ale (750 ml)..... | Meantime Brewing Co, London, ENG..... | 8.0..... | $36.50 |

Old Ale

With a name taken from their ability to age well, these ales have a rich, malty flavor and a full body, resulting from a shortened fermentation. The good ones are full of character.

| | | | |
|-----------|--|-----------|---------|
| Adam..... | Hair of the Dog Brewery, Portland, OR..... | 10.0..... | $14.25 |
|-----------|--|-----------|---------|

Strong Ale

A newer category of beers that are richer and more complex, higher in alcohol content, and not for the weak-hearted. But damn good!

| | | | |
|-------------------------------------|--|-----------|---------|
| Stone 13th Anniversary (22 oz)..... | Stone Brewing, Escondido, CA..... | 9.5..... | $17.75 |
| Old Viscosity (22 oz)..... | Port Brewing, San Marcos, CA | 10.0..... | $15.75 |
| Palo Santo Marron | Dogfish Head Brewing, Milton, DE | 12.0..... | $11.25 |
| Fred | Hair of the Dog Brewery, Portland, OR..... | 10.0..... | $12.75 |

Barley Wine

One of the strongest beer styles, these intense beers are often sweet and fruity. Their heavy malt content creates a strong and complex palate. Often the perfect match for dessert.

| | | | |
|----------------------------|----------------------------------|-----------|---------|
| Mirror Mirror (22 oz)..... | Deschutes Brewery, Bend, OR..... | 11.0..... | $27.00 |
|----------------------------|----------------------------------|-----------|---------|

Fruit Beer

Beer, with fruit

| | | | |
|--|---|----------|---------|
| Hell or High Watermelon Wheat (Can)..... | 21st Amendment Brewery, San Francisco, CA | 5.2..... | $4.75 |
| Éphémère Cranberry (750 ml) | Unibroue, Chambly, Quebec, CAN..... | 5.5..... | $21.00 |

Ancient Herbed Ale/Gruit

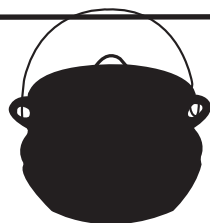

These ales are nods to the ancient times when beer was infused with herbs and spices for flavor.

| | | | |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|----------|--------|
| Midas Touch Golden Elixir..... | Dogfish Head, Milton, DE..... | 9.0..... | $9.50 |
|--------------------------------|-------------------------------|----------|--------|

Porter

These dark ales are generally characterized by their brilliant balance of toasty malts and strong (yet subtle) hoppiness. Often lighter in body than a stout, though not necessarily in alcohol.

| | | | |
|---------------------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Meantime Coffee Porter (330 ml)..... | Meantime Brewing Co., London, ENG | 6.0..... | $12.25 |
| Norse Porter (500 ml)..... | HaandBryggiert, Drammen, NOR | 6.5..... | $19.75 |

| Telegraph Stock Porter (750 ml) | Telegraph Brewing Co., Santa Barbara, CA | 5.8..... | $27.00 |

THE MONK'S KETTLE

Stout

Stouts as a rule are very dark in color, with roasty malts, a heavy body, and a strong and balanced hop content, but vary in range from sweet to dry.

They are, however, always easy drinking.

| | | | |
|--|--|-----------|---------|
| Double Chocolate Stout (14.2 oz. Draught Can)..... | Wells & Youngs, Bedford, ENG | 5.2..... | $7.50 |
| St. Ambrose Oatmeal Stout | McAuslan Brewing, Montreal, CAN..... | 5.0..... | $7.00 |

| Hitachino Nest Espresso Stout | Kiuchi Brewery, Ibareki-ken Naka-machi, JAPAN..... | 7.5..... | $13.25 |

Belgian Ales

The Belgians have taken the art of brewing to a level unto themselves. From the Trappist brews (a designation allowed to only the 7 Trappist monasteries), to Abbey beers (the non-Trappist, trappist beers) to their wheat beers, their Lambics and beyond; these are the ultimate craft beers. The brews below are artisanal masterpieces, and obviously deserve a class of their own.

Witbier

A cloudy, pale-yellow wheat beer with spicy characteristics, and an occasional citrus quality from the addition of orange peel and coriander seed to the brew-kettle.

| | | | |
|--------------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Hitachino Nest White Ale | Kiuchi Brewery, Ibareki-ken Naka-machi, JAPAN..... | 5.0..... | $13.25 |

| St. Bernardus Witbier..... | Brouwerij St. Bernardus NV, Watou, BEL | 5.5..... | $12.25 |

Belgian Pale Ale

Pale straw to amberish in color, these ales feature aged hops, a malty sweetness, and often spiciness.

| | | | |
|------------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Orval Trappist Ale..... | Brasserie D'Orval, Villers-devant-Orval, BEL | 6.9..... | $14.25 |
| De Koninck | Brouwerij De Koninck NV, BEL | 5.2..... | $8.00 |
| Hitachino Red Rice Ale | Kiuchi Brewery, Ibareki-ken Naka-machi, JAPAN..... | 5.0..... | $13.50 |

Belgian IPA

A newer style of Belgian ale that uses hops as liberally as they do their yeasts. It's Belgian yeast meets American hops. This results in a cloudy, dry ale with a higher alcohol content, and a fantastic billowy head.

| | | | |
|---------------------------------|-----------------------------------|----------|---------|
| Gouden Carolus Hopsinjoor | Br. Het Anker, Mechelen, BEL..... | 8.0..... | $14.25 |
| Poperings Hommel Ale..... | Br. Van Eecke, Watou, BEL | 7.5..... | $10.5 |

Belgian Strong Pale Ale

Light in color, these ales are strong in their alcohol content, with flavor profiles that are incredibly complex, and tend toward well balanced hops. These also feature flamboyant heads.

| | | | |
|---------------------------------|--|-----------|---------|
| Ara Bier..... | Brouwerij De Dolle Brouwers, Esen, BEL | 7.0..... | $16.75 |
| Duvel..... | Brouwerij Moortgat NV, Breendonk-Puurs, BEL..... | 8.5..... | $11.25 |

| Achel Trappist Extra (750 ml)..... | Brouwerij der St. Benedictusabdij de Achelse, Hamont-Achel, BEL ... | 9.5..... | $39.50 |

Singel

The Abbey Ales initially were marked with a certain number of X's to indicate strength, and perhaps quality. The Singel, the table beer, is usually lighter in color, with a crisp hoppiness, and is rarely seen outside of the abbey.

| | | | |
|-------------------------------|---|----------|---------|
| Witkap Singel Abbey Ale | Brouwerij Slagmuylder, Ninove, BEL..... | 6.0..... | $13.25 |
|-------------------------------|---|----------|---------|

Dubbel

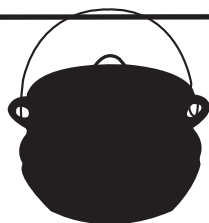

This usually dark, slightly sweet, ale is rich with maltiness, showing some spicy characteristics and mild hops.

| | | | |
|-------------------------------|--|----------|---------|
| Siamese Twin (16 oz Can)..... | Uncommon Brewers, Santa Cruz, CA..... | 8.5..... | $7.00 |

THE MONK'S KETTLE

Quadrupel

A strong, dark brew that is rich with maltiness, low in bitterness, and features a spicy, earthy aroma and palate.

Saison

A complex style from the southern French speaking part of Belgium. Saisons are pale, refreshingly crisp, and tart with a high hop content. They are distinctively orange, due perhaps to the spices added to the brew kettle (often anise, black pepper, and/or orange peel).

Flanders Sour Ale

A beer like you've never tasted before. A Brettanomyces yeast strain gives these beers a fruity, sour, and tart flavor. They are complex, aged in oak for a caramel-like, tannic acidity, and often see blending of new and old batches. These ales are complex and vary in color depending upon the brewing process.

Lambic

Lembeek, Belgium is the birthplace of the use of 'wild' yeasts and spontaneous fermentation. Brewers there still traditionally cool their brews in the attic of the brewhouse overnight with the windows open, to invite wild yeasts to visit their brew. The classics are tart and citric, and use the Brettanomyces yeast that imparts its "horse blanket" aroma and flavor. Many add fruit once fermentation has begun to sweeten the brew, creating an especially tasty beer.
